

KEEPING SCORE EDUCATION - TEACHING THROUGH MUSIC Professional Development for the Classroom Teacher

Thinking about applying to Keeping Score? Ask yourself:

- Does great music speak to your soul?
- Are you excited by new ideas? Can you envision translating them into new lessons for your classroom?
- Do you want to go beyond test scores and help your students achieve a deeper level of understanding?
- Are you intrigued by the possibilities of technology to enhance your teaching?

Here's what you can expect:

- Immersion in the exciting environment of a major symphony orchestra
- Music content delivered through an innovative mixture of live performance, media, and hands-on experiences
- High quality instruction in arts integration
- Resources for your classroom
- Support for your teaching and music-integrated curriculum development
- College credit (1-6 units available)
- Support from a national network of teachers, mentors, and coaches
- Benefits through community arts organizations

What we are looking for in a Keeping Score participant:

- Commitment to learning more about music and teaching
- Commitment to using your new skills to integrate music into your curriculum on a regular, ongoing basis
- Commitment to attend all KS activities on a regular, ongoing basis
- Commitment to participate actively in the online component of KS
- Commitment to sharing your new knowledge with other teachers in your school

Still interested? Here's what to do:

- With your principal, put together a Keeping Score "ensemble"
(For existing KS schools, 1-2 teachers; for new schools, 3-5 teachers)
- Have each teacher submit a Teacher Application and Resume to your principal
- Have your principal fill out and submit the School Application, including all Teacher Applications, via email or fax
- Further questions? Visit keepingscore.org/education for information about your site

Visit www.keepingscore.org/education for application submission information.